

Succession Planning for Successful Bankers[©]

FWI Foundation is pleased to offer you this TeleForum program - a distance learning program - offered through a Strategic Alliance with GillenGroup Executive Coaching.

Join this TeleForum: Wednesday, May 21, 2008 2:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m. Eastern

How do you intentionally cultivate leaders within your organization who will continue your legacy of results? A succession planning survey showed that while over 60% of all firms surveyed had leaders aged 60-65, only 19% had a written succession plan in place.

This indicates that if a critical leader leaves a position, it is a blow to the company because no one is groomed to handle the duties. The good news is that in our global economy, many financial companies are moving towards a new way of thinking that increase their profitability in a competitive market.

We will discuss:

- The key to successful succession plans
- How to cultivate internal SuperStars
- What to look for when choosing your successor
- Creating a Win-Win culture of inclusivity
